Industrial park roads due for an overhaul

Roads in Elk Point's industrial area will get a much-needed overhaul in the near future. Elk Point Town Council decided at their July 12 meeting to go ahead with $26,000 in repairs.

The Town originally planned to resurface the portions of 50th Avenue and Railway Avenue east of Highway 41. Mayor Lyle Frisby told Council that after the Public Works Committee "shuffled the budget", 54th Street south of 50th Avenue and a short stretch on the west end of Railway Avenue were added to the list. "Then we asked for a price on all the industrial area roads." The price, from Shamrock Valley Enterprises, came in at an affordable $26,000 which Council agreed could come from general capital reserves.

The Town has long hoped to completely rebuild the industrial park roads, but estimated costs were far beyond available funds. Frisby indicated the overhaul "should keep those roads in shape for five years. By then, with street enhancement grants, we should have enough [to do the major rebuilding]." Street enhancement grants can be accumulated over several years until enough is available to do projects of this magnitude.

Dual position possible

With the Town's current animal control officer tendering his resignation as of August 23, Council debated the possibility of combining the position with that of a bylaw enforcement officer. The position would "probably be part-time, at least at first", Mayor Frisby said, but could potentially become full-time. Town manager Myron Goyan has been dealing with bylaw enforcement, and the creation of the new position would free up more of his time for administrative work. "We'll have to come up with a list of duties" for the combined position, Frisby told Council.

Setback bylaw passed

No objections were received either in person or in writing on Bylaw 628/04 during the public hearing held prior to Council's regular meeting. The bylaw deals with setback of buildings from back alleys, and was subsequently given second and third readings.

Welcoming preparations

Preparations are underway to welcome the new physician who is expected to open an office in Elk Point in the first week of September. Town councillor Parrish Tung told Council that "all indications are, he's coming." Tung has located an apartment and office space for the newcomer, and has potential office staff lined up in anticipation of his arrival.

Elk Point welcomes Midget 'A' Provincials

Fifth Elk Point visit for baseball's "big show"

Midget 'A' baseball teams from seven zones across the province will converge on Elk Point this weekend to join the host Elk Point White Sox in the provincial championships at Bassett Field.

Sox manager Doug Bassett says this is the fifth time Elk Point has hosted 'The Big Show' and feels "they keep coming back to Elk Point because we have some of the finest facilities in the province and the friendliest business people to welcome our guests".

Teams from Cold Lake, Brownfield, Drayton Valley and Elk Point will make up Pool A, while teams from Acme, Innsfail and Sherwood Park will join a team still undetermined at press time in Pool B. The two pools will play round robins on Friday and Saturday, culminating in semi-finals on Sunday.

Elk Point's first game, against Cold Lake, will follow Friday's 5:30 p.m. opening ceremonies. On Saturday, the Sox take on Brownfield at 9:00 a.m. and Drayton Valley at 3:00 p.m.

Sunday's semi-final games go at 9:00 a.m. and 12:00 noon, with the championship final slated for 3:00 p.m.

Come out to Bassett Field this weekend to cheer on the Sox and take in some great baseball action.

ASB tour visits Elk Point industries, diversified farm

Agricultural service board representatives from across Alberta gained new insight into rural life in northeast Alberta as they toured the Elk Point area last Wednesday and Thursday as part of the 2004 Provincial ASB Summer Tour, hosted by the County of St. Paul.

A total of 240 delegates piled on tour buses in St. Paul early both mornings. One set of buses headed north to tour the County's public works shop and the St. Paul seed cleaning plant before heading to Mallaig to experience old-style farming operations at Haying in the '30s. The group later toured Westcove recreation area before winding up the day with a look at St. Paul's water treatment plant.

The second set of buses departed east past Elk Point, making their first stop at the Canadian Salt Company Limited's Lindbergh facility, where salt for household, agricultural and road safety use is mined by pumping hot water deep into underground salt beds. The visitors suited up in hard hats and safety glasses for a tour of the plant, where they learned how salt is removed from the resulting brine and processed for a variety of uses.

Wednesday's tour had time for a side trip to Heinsburg, where they saw the only railway water tower still on its original site, and caught a brief glimpse of the vintage agricultural equipment and wagons displayed at 4S Wheelwright Shop.

The final stop of the morning was at CCS, or Canadian Crude Separators. Knowledgeable tour guides hopped on the buses and explained the workings of the plant, as the buses slowly cruised past the giant hopper where vacuum trucks dump sand-laden oilfield sludge, a service rig in operation on one of the plant's disposal wells, tanks where oil extracted from the sand is stored, and the open doors of buildings housing giant motors. The motors drive huge pumps used to transport the sand to empty salt caverns in the immediate area of the plant.

The Town of Elk Point hosted lunch for the delegates each day, with Town Council serving up soup and salad made at local restaurants, locally made buns and locally produced beef and bison at the Seniors Recreation Centre. As the visitors enjoyed a final cup of coffee, Cam Kinniburgh and Bernie Parenteau of Canadian Natural Resources Limited provided an educational slide show which gave what Kinniburgh described as "a quick and dirty explanation" of heavy oil production, and answered a number of questions from tour participants.

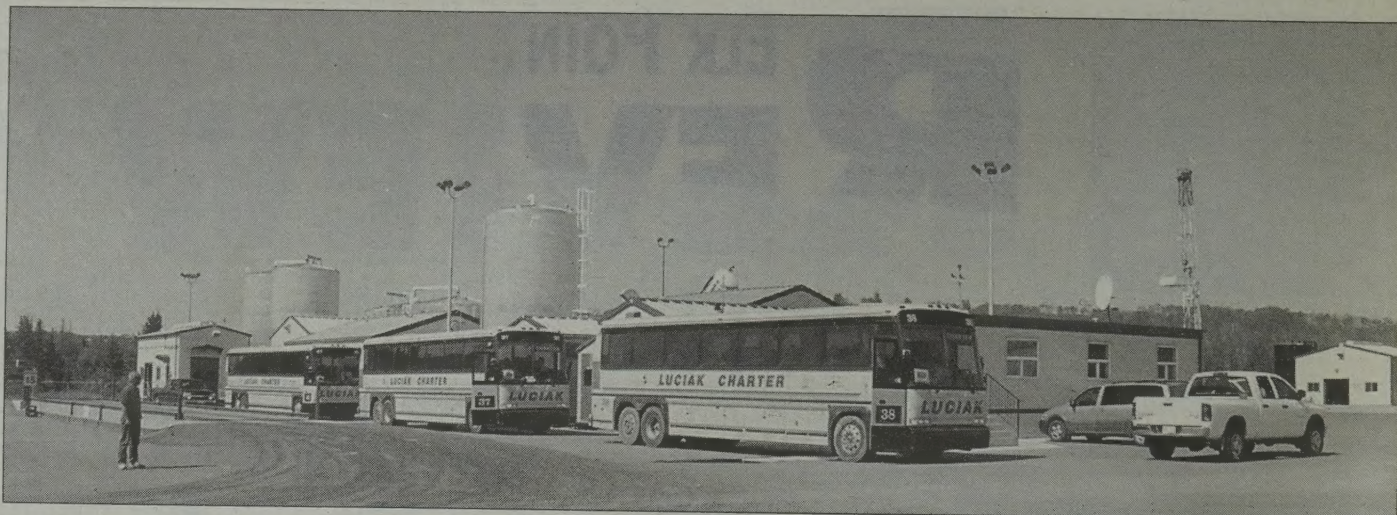

Then it was back on the buses, one group stopping to visit Circle M Trout Farm and Aquaponics while the other group headed to a marshalling area for a horse-drawn wagon ride down the scenic Iron Horse Trail.

Trout farm visitors saw Circle M's 42,000 fish in progressive sizes from recently-hatched to ready for pond-stocking. Owners Doug and Virginia Millar, their daughters and staff answered a number of questions regarding the care and feeding of the fish. Doug Millar explained how the waste products of the operation are utilized in the adjoining aquaponic greenhouse, where the abundant nutrients from the fish

Drive-through Tour

Thursday's visitors took a drive-through look at Canadian Crude Separators' Lindbergh facility, where oilfield waste materials are collected and pumped into the caverns left when salt is hydraulically extracted by the nearby Canadian Salt Company Limited.

The Town of Elk Point has been invited to join the Town and County of St. Paul in sponsoring a mobile promotional sign, which would be painted on the side of a semi trailer and would spread the message of the area wherever the trailer traveled. Cold Lake and Bonnyville currently have such signage. Council agreed that they were interested, but would like to see the cost of the sign divided on a per capita basis between the three municipalities, rather than in three equal shares.

Tax sale date changed

The date for the tax recovery sale of one parcel of property has been moved from August 18 to September 29, due to paperwork requirements. Myron Goyan has been assigned as auctioneer for the sale, which could be canceled right up to the sale date, if taxes on the parcel were paid.

Bantam girls find competition tough at provincials

By DOUG BASSETT
Review Sports

When it comes to playing in a provincial ball tournament the game takes on a whole new level. Playing against the best in the province means that you have to play the best that you can. It's about teamwork and sometimes just a little luck thrown in doesn't hurt.

The bantam girls were in Spruce Grove this past weekend and experienced first hand what it takes. Not only did the girls have tough competition, but also the hot weather was taking its toll. Much too hot out on the diamond, but remember only a few weeks ago there was frost in the mornings, so quit complaining.

Competing for the provincial C title, the girls lost against Calgary Silver Springs Friday morning in the first game, then to Ponoka in the second game on Friday.

On Saturday the girls started hitting a little better and lost a close one to the host Spruce Grove, then won big time against Dawson Creek. Something positive to end the weekend, but it wasn't enough to put them into the semi-finals on Sunday. It was, however, a very good learning experience for not only the girls but also the coaching staff. Don and Shannon Aarbo and Murray Cochrane have done a terrific job of preparing the girls for the provincials. This is the first year in many years that Elk Point has sent a girls' team to provincials, but hopefully not the last.

And now for the K. A. Campbell's quote of the week: "Baseball is the very symbol, the outward and visible expression of the drive and push and rush and struggle of the raging, tearing, booming nineteenth century."

Last week's answer to: "Every great batter works on the theory that a pitcher is more afraid of him than he is of the pitcher." - Ty Cobb.

Facelift time for the Elk Point Review

How do you like us now?

Looking back through the issues of past years, we suddenly realized how long it's been since we updated the look of the Elk Point Review. Time, as they say, sure flies when you're having fun, putting out the weekly news, or sometimes doing both simultaneously.

With the Review's 20th birthday just a few months behind us, we decided it was time for a facelift. Our creative layout staff eagerly took on the challenge, and voila! Our front page and Viewpoint page have taken on a slick new look, and our community news pages have been redesigned to fit in more news than ever.

Along with our new appearance, we hope to offer a few new features in the coming weeks.

Since our birthday back in March, we have chronicled the highlights of the news each year from 1984 through 1994. Rather than going through each of the remaining nine years, we plan to bring you, each week, highlights of news for the corresponding week 20, 15, 10 and five years ago.

For a lighthearted look at more recent events, we'll bring you a weekly cartoon to tickle your funnybone.

Another coming attraction or two are in the works, so stay tuned.

The Big Show happens here!

While you're waiting for next week's issue, why not take in some excellent entertainment this weekend? Just make your way out to Bassett Field and cheer on Alberta's best midget baseball players, including our very own White Sox, who are eager to defend their Provincial title.

VIEWS FROM WAY BACK WHEN...

Do you remember these?

FROM THE ELK POINT REVIEW AND LAKELAND REVIEW FILES
FOR THE WEEK OF JULY 20 IN...

1984:

Petitioners in the Elk Point area were successful in having the south boundary of the St. Paul provincial constituency moved southward to include 90 square miles of territory south of the North Saskatchewan River. Local poet Irene Magnusson won gold at the Alberta Seniors Games in Camrose with a poem entitled, "Old Cowboy".

1989:

Heinsburg 4-H Club announced that their new, permanent corrals were in place just in time for Whitney Lake Rodeo, with future fundraising planned for construction of bleachers and booths. Buddy Bensmiller came across the finish line 8/100 of a second ahead of George Normand to win the Calgary Stampede Rangeland Derby.

1994:

MLA Paul Langevin told constituents in the Heinsburg area he would not rejoin the Liberal caucus and felt he could serve the constituency better as an independent. Special tribute was paid to Les Trach's nine-time bucking horse of the year, Hot Chocolate, at the Stoney Lake Stampede.

1999:

Slickers covered old style red serge uniforms as the RCMP March West was given a soggy but enthusiastic welcome when they stopped overnight at Rusylvia corner on their trek to Edmonton. Elk Point Midget Girls, coached by Allen Warawa and Al Lakusta, won the silver at Provincials in Waskatenau.

The Elk Point Review publishes a variety of opinions as a contribution to debate on matters of public concern. Unsigned editorials express the view of this newspaper's editorial board which includes the Publisher and the Editor. Signed pieces express the view of the individual writer.

GUEST COLUMN

Beware of summer's severe weather

It was only last week that a summer severe weather situation occurred in Edmonton. It was a coincidence, but we happened to be driving to Edmonton last Sunday to pick up one of our children and bring them home for a couple of days. When we arrived in Edmonton around 3:45 p.m., we noticed as we drove further into Edmonton, that they had very recently received a storm. Water was running down the streets. Small hail stones were still on the sidewalks and leaves of trees were everywhere. In fact, the hail stones were piled as high as four inches or so and the streets were slushy. We later learned that the area of West Edmonton Mall was hit the worst. This was an example of a summer severe weather condition. We also learned that tornadoes did touch down near Andrew and Morinville.

Now maybe, if we had had our radio turned on, we would have heard of the weather warnings and conditions. Therefore, lesson number one would be to listen to the weather conditions on the radio. The next question then becomes, "Would the radio be able to give us adequate warning?" For example, Bill Boskwick of the Emergency Management Alberta stated that the lessons learned from the Grande Prairie tornado and others that hit the East Prairie Metis Settlement and a couple of First Nations reserves around Lesser Slave Lake were that these were events that one couldn't count on advance warning.

from the FCSS desk

So what should we do? I took the following information off the Internet under "Environment Canada": When a tornado threatens, take shelter immediately. Stay away from windows, doors and exterior walls. Don't waste time opening windows to keep pressure from building up in the house. It's unlikely to help, anyway. In a house, go to the basement and seek shelter under a stairway or sturdy work table. In a house with no basement, the safest room is the ground floor in the centre of the house, in a hallway, small room, closet or bathroom.

How does Environment Canada do tornado detection? They have weather radar and they have satellites. Weather radar is a prime tool of Environment Canada and detecting heavy precipitation, rapidly developing cloud systems and other signatures of severe thunderstorms, which can spawn tornadoes. Weather radar covers the areas inhabited by 95 percent of Canada's population. Each radar scans a radius of about 325 km. Just as a searchlight beam picks out and reflects off an object, weather radar sends out microwave pulses that bounce off rain, hail and snow. The radar measures the pulses reflected back by precipitation and relays the patterns to a video screen for a meteorologist to interpret. Conventional weather radar can show the type, amount and rate of precipitation. Doppler radar can also measure the speed at which precipitation is moving in the area the radar covers. While the actual tornado is usually too small for the Doppler radar to see, it does detect wind shifts, gust fronts and cyclonic patterns that are the signature of tornadoes.

Now satellites send pictures of cloud formations over large areas of the globe. They can detect what is happening between weather stations and radar sites. Combined with radar data and conventional observations, satellite imagery can provide a complete picture of developing thunderstorms. Thus, all this technology is a help. But in the end, we may not have adequate warning even if we are listening to the radio... so, heads up, everyone.

Sox ready to host Midget 'A' Provincials

DOUG BASSETT
Review Sports

It's here, it's here, the biggest sporting event of the year is here, in our town starting on Friday morning at 9 a.m. at the home of the Sox, Bassett Field. The best eight Midget "A" teams from all over the province of Alberta will be here for this, the World Series of minor ball, the Midget "A" Baseball Provincials. This is the fifth time Elk Point has had the honor of hosting the special event, and the reason they keep coming back to Elk Point is because we have some of the finest facilities in the province and the friendliest business people to welcome our guests.

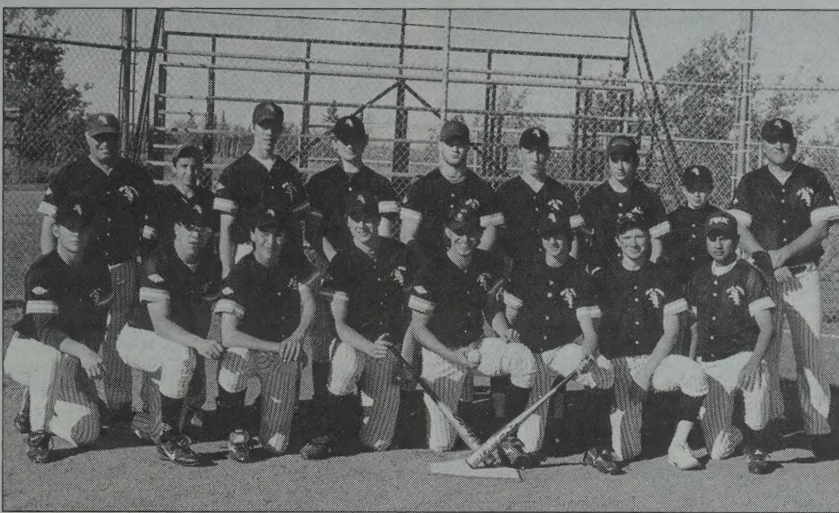

The teams will start rolling in Thursday night from all over the province; Acme, Innsfail, Cold Lake, Drayton Valley, Sherwood Park and Brownfield will be here. Elk Point is the host. Carceland, Stony Plain, Edson, Vegreville and Edmonton are all on the bubble, all fighting for the final spot, and a chance to make it to the show.

The first game for the host team, the Sox, will be Friday night at 6 p.m., right after the opening ceremonies at 5.30 p.m. This year they finished the round robin with one win and five losses in the round robins, but remember last year - the Sox also finished in eighth spot but took the gold in the end.

The Sox Lineup

Let's take a look at the Sox manager's lineup card for this year.

"Lucky". Joel Leckie #13 - Fourth and final year with the team, the coaching staff is hoping "Lucky" will be back next year as our batting coach. Batting lead off with a .458 B.A. (batting average) during the regular season, there's a reason Joel is called lucky. He gets on base any way he can. Leading the team in R.E. (that's reached base on errors by the other team, certainly not by "Lucky" himself). Playing first base, "Lucky" has made one error all season and well over 100 catches.

Grayson "Big Smack" Bilak #24 - Second baseman in his fourth and final year with the club. Second in the line up, "Big Smack" had a respectable regular season, batting .357, but has really hammered the ball lately in the round robins, a big homer and triple last weekend in Cold Lake.

Nicky "Fishhook" Myshaniuk #00 - Sox main man in the bullpen, this young pitcher is in his fourth season with the team and can still play next year. When he's not pitching he can usually be found playing shortstop. Bats third in the line up with a team-high .511 batting average and also a team high .787 slugging percentage. A great base stealer who likes to slide head first, "Fish hook" had 14 stolen bases in the regular season.

Brodie "Bull Dozer" Schmitt #15 - Third baseman and clean-up batter hitting .405 for the season. A great addition to this year's team in the field, and especially at the plate, "Bull Dozer" is going to be missing this year's final due to another previous commitment.

Kurt "the Wall" Kozicky #7 - Fourth and final year with the team, "the Wall" played behind the plate for the first time this year and did extremely well. Injured for part of the season, his big bat, great speed and leadership will really be missed this coming weekend. "The Wall" will be missing in this year's final due to his oldest brother's wedding.

Corbin Poitras #14 - This is his first year in organized base ball, but he has already shown great improvement in the field and batting.

Jordan "Gordo" Cousins. #25 - Second year with the Sox plays mostly second base when he's not pitching. The team leader in sacrifice bunts, "Gordo" can really lay them down. With other previous commitments "Gordo" will also be missing for the provincial final.

Travis "Track Star" Lindquist #10 - Fourth year with the Sox and showing improvement every year. This track star plays right, center or left field and has great speed on the bases or tracking down balls, but every second year we have this conflict: he will be competing where he really shines, at the Summer Games in track and field during our provincials.

Greg "House" Kozicky #80 - Big and strong an outfielder who very seldom misses a fly ball. Lots of power at the plate when he makes contact. Also playing in his fourth and final year.

Sox hosting Provincials

Steve Kozina. "Big Steve" or "Steveco" #3 - Fourth and final year with the team, "Steveco" brings a positive attitude to the team whether he's playing or in the dugout. A right fielder that's very patient at the plate, "Big Steve" has a team-leading .615 on base average.

Lee "BoBo" Letestu #17 - Third year with the club, "Bo Bo" has been one of the team's starting pitchers all season. He has shown extreme improvement, not only on the mound but also at the plate.

Myles "Mylo" Quinney #2 - Pitcher in his fourth and final season with the Sox, he has missed a lot of games this year but has the potential to win the big game, just like last year's opener against Standard. Big and strong "Mylo" can chuck the ball all day.

Brandon Holthe #16 - With his band and all his other commitments he hasn't seen a lot of action this year but has the potential to be one of the best. Hopefully he will make it this weekend.

Tate "Tater" Jensen #19 - Bantam aged player who signed up during the round robins to help the Sox field a team. Shows great potential for a guy who only started playing at this level two weeks ago.

PRAYER OF THE BLESSED VIRGIN (never known to fail)

Oh, most beautiful flower of Mt. Carmel, fruitful vine, splendor of Heaven, Blessed Mother of the Son of God, Immaculate Virgin, assist me in my necessity. Oh Star of the Sea, help me and show me here you are my mother. Oh Holy Mary, Mother of God, Queen of Heaven and Earth, I humbly beseech you from the bottom of my heart to succor me in my necessity (make request). There are none that can withstand your power. Oh Mary conceived without sin, pray for us who have recourse to thee (three times). Holy Mary I place this prayer in your hands (three times). Say this prayer three consecutive days and then you must publish and it will be granted to you. M.H.

Summer readers learn about playground safety

BY ROSEANN MAGDIAK
Summer Reading Program Coordinator

Constable S. G. McGee of the Elk Point RCMP visited Elk Point Public Library last week and presented information about playground safety to the participants of the summer reading program. We learned a lot and it was very beneficial to us. We had a great time participating in the presentation and hope that Cst. McGee will come back next summer.

The summer reading program is having an outdoor water fun day this Tuesday, July 20. If you are registered and intend to participate, please bring a towel and extra clothing because we do intend to get wet! If your children are registered in the summer reading program and are attending the outdoor water fun day, we welcome you to join us and aid in the supervision of the children that day. We plan to have a great time, weather permitting.
